GENERAL REMARKS

In spite of large numbers the general quality of the work in the primary school is good. Unfortunately, because of the excessive numbers in these Grades it is difficult to help weak boys. Each year the numbers are increasing in the secondary classes. It would be a healthy sign if these extra numbers came from a desire for higher learning rather than because the late primary and early secondary classes have such large numbers (80+).
 Every effort should be made to reduce classes to the maximum of 60. Then a more modern and imaginative approach to education will be possible.
